BLUE PEAR NECKLACE

The best pears are not eaten, they are put on display in the form of elegant jewelry. Bulgari's white gold necklace is the perfect example, with its 11.52-carat blue pear-shaped briolette-cut sapphire and 3.51 carats in pear-shaped diamonds. The necklace is complete with round pavé diamonds and is sure to make any woman the belle of the ball this holiday season. Price available upon request.

Bulgari (High Jewelry Collection)

DIAMOND & SAPPHIRE NECKLACE

Diamonds don't always have to be fashionable: They can also be practical. Bulgari raises the bar for diamond necklaces with a sapphire and cushion-shaped brilliant-cut diamond piece set in white and yellow gold. With over 86 carats in gems and a detachable pendant that can also be worn as a brooch, this piece ensures that its owner will stand out from the crowd. Price available upon request.

YELLOW GOLD BRACELET

Do you have a sweet tooth? The 17.48-carat sugarloaf emerald in Bulgari's yellow gold bracelet is sure to satisfy the strongest of cravings. With over 68 carats in gems, 54 mandarin garnets, 32 round-cut emeralds, four cabochon-cut emeralds, and pavé diamonds, this arm candy is sure to make many green with envy.

EMERALD DIAMOND NECKLACE

Bulgari gives the infamous emerald a new look with its white and yellow gold necklace. The 13.60-carat oval-shaped emerald and 25.18-carat round emeralds are placed with 17.16 carats of round brilliant-cut diamonds and 8.21 carats of pavé diamonds. The green gems in the necklace are sure to make the holiday season more enjoyable. Price available upon request.

de Grisogono

SNAKE BRACELET

Most women are afraid of snakes—unless they come in the form of a bejeweled de Grisogono bracelet, of course. The emeralds and white diamonds covering the item combine to resemble scaly skin, while large pearl eyes complete the look. The price is $276,000.

AMETHYST BOULE NECKLACE

With this necklace, women can enjoy wearing a color once heavily associated with royalty in medieval Europe. The $131,700 de Grisogono choker features radiant amethyst balls that make it stand out as the ultimate statement piece.

PEACOCK NECKLACE

There is something regal about the feathers of a peacock, and de Grisogono captures that perfectly in this colorful statement necklace. The highly detailed piece is covered with a blend of emeralds, blue sapphires, and white and yellow gold diamonds. Any woman's neck will surely come alive when adorned with this piece. Price available upon request.

AMETHYST DROP EARRINGS

These drop earrings are given some flare with a touch of purple amethysts and diamonds. Tiny amethysts come together to form spheres that resemble gumdrops and are linked together with three delicate diamonds. At $63,100, these pieces look good enough to eat.

Harry Winston

DOUBLE AMETHYST NECKLACE

Why settle for one necklace design when you can fuse two together? Harry Winston made this crossover necklace truly extraordinary with a heart-shaped amethyst, hanging from marquise-shaped diamonds that blend together with pear-cut diamonds, ending in a large emerald-cut amethyst tail. Price available upon request.

SINGLE PENDANT NECKLACE

As if it weren't already worthy of being royalty, Harry Winston crowned the sapphire pendant of this regal necklace with a tiara-shaped cluster of marquise diamonds. The chain is made with emerald-cut diamonds, and the entire concoction forms a product that is fit for a queen. Price available upon request.

BLUE SAPPHIRE RING

Harry Winston knows the formula for a classic ring. He doesn't disappoint with his diamond and blue sapphire piece. The egg-shaped blue gem cannot be ignored and may even make you want to kiss the hand of its owner just to take a glance. Price available upon request.

ORANGE MANDARIN RING

Inspired by Mother Nature, Harry Winston is bringing women some of the earth's most beautiful and colorful gems in this Royal Gardens high-jewelry collection ring. The central focus of the piece is a large 19.47-carat oval mandarin gem with two oval 1.96-carat garnet spinels seated at either side of it. With 82 round and brilliant 4.04-carat diamonds covering the ring, nature's finest jewels have found their stylish home. Price available upon request.
